Teacher-Coach Confidentiality

In my day-to-day coaching activities, I may gather information either for research purposes or as an aspect of our own collaboration. I want to clarify my policy, and the policy of the entire Pathways to Success staff, with respect to gathered data. I believe that our collaboration will work best if you know that any information I collect in your classroom is confidential. Please understand that our work together is just between us--any data gathered during our collaboration will only be shared anonymously. In my role as an Instructional Coach, I am not in any way an evaluator. I am a partner, and I fully expect you will teach me as much or more than I teach you. I look forward to our on-going collaboration in the future.
